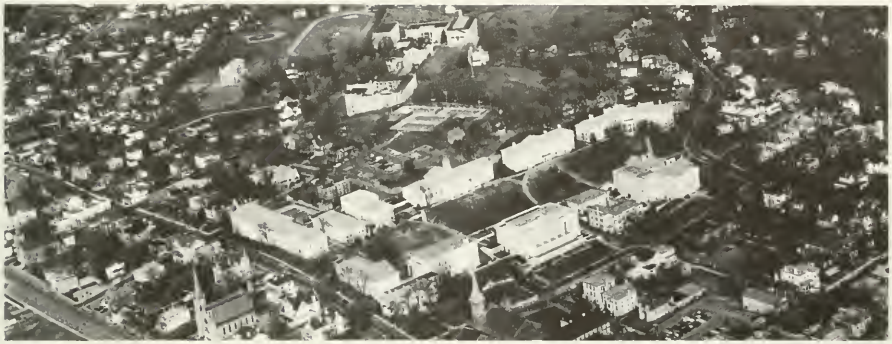
Mary Baldwin College
Staunton, Virginia 24401

Mary Baldwin



In This Issue

3 Mary Baldwin Purchases Staunton Military Academy Property

5 SMA Commanded Prestigious 116-year History
by Fred Pfisterer

6 Captain Kable's Mary Baldwin Family Tree
by Mary B. Carter

8 Career Opportunities Expanding With New Business Management Program
by Bernard S. Logan

11 New Dimensions News

13 News of the Faculty

14 News from the Classes

22 Inauguration, Alumnae Weekend, Fine Arts Festival

VOLUME XXIV, NUMBER 5 November, 1976

Issued six times a year: March, July, August, September, October and November by Mary Baldwin College, Box 2445, Staunton, Virginia 24401 Second-class postage paid at Staunton, Virginia and at additional mailing offices.

Editor: Janet M. Ferguson
Assistant Editor: Mary B. Carter
Photographers: (unknown for photographs not credited)
Robert J. Llewellyn. cover, pp. 2. 4, 5, 6, 7
Dennis Sutton. pp. 9, 10
Patricia Stratton photo, p. 9 courtesy of General Motors Corp.
Photo. p. 11, courtesy of Pat Patterson, Arkansas Gazette

ON THE COVER: A glimpse of the SMA campus recently purchased by Mary Baldwin

Mary Baldwin Purchases Staunton Military Academy Property for $1.12 Million

Mary Baldwin College took an historic step to ensure the future of the college's expanded educational programs and to improve the quality of student life on campus with the purchase of the adjacent 36-acre Staunton Military Academy this past December.

When Layne Leoffler, owner of the SMA property delivered the deed of ownership for the campus to Mary Baldwin president Dr. Virginia L. Lester, it marked the culmination of several months of negotiations between the two institutions. Funds for the entire purchase price ($1.12 million) for the academy property were donated by alumnae, parents, trustees and friends of the college.

After the ownership deed was signed, college officials conveyed title to the Staunton YMCA for 8.4 acres for an undisclosed amount to be used for the development of a new Y facility. A joint use agreement was also signed by the Y and Mary Baldwin for use of the outdoor athletic facilities which include a track, ball diamond and playing field.

The acquisition of this property brings the size of the Mary Baldwin campus to slightly more than 41 acres. The facilities purchased include 14 buildings which will allow for the expansion of present academic, physical education, social and recreational programs for the students and five residential buildings which will be used for faculty and staff housing or rental property.

The buildings and land acquired will provide a president's house, a student recreational facility for social events, an additional dormitory, a building site for a future fine arts center, four tennis courts and administrative offices.

Renovation Funds Sought

To provide for the immediate renovation, development and maintenance of this new campus, without using current operating funds of the college for the next three years, a campaign was initiated in November to raise $500,000. Through the generosity of friends of the college, as well as area businesses and corporations, the college has achieved over 80% of its goal.

According to Dr. Roy K. Patteson, vice president for development, three major gifts have accounted for a significant portion of the amount raised.

The first major gift received by the college toward the development of the new campus was a $100,000 matching grant from the Robert G. and Maude Morgan Cabell Foundation of Richmond. Conditions of the grant stipulate that payment will be made to the college by the foundation at the time the balance of $400,000 has been raised in full.

The other major gifts are from a former trustee of the college, Mrs. T. Alex Grant of Staunton and Mrs. E. Bruce Livy of Richmond, Va., an alumna of the college. Mrs. Grant deeded the college 30.77 acres of prime undeveloped residential property on the northeast side of Staunton. Mrs. Livy, the former Marguerite Fulwiler '17, pledged $50,000 toward the purchase, rehabilitation and maintenance of the property.

Long-Range Planning Begun

While the expected completion date for fund raising to renovate the new campus is December, 1977, work has already begun to ready the superintendent's house for occupancy by President Virginia L. Lester sometime this spring. The dining hall, which is being remodeled for student social activities, is expected to be in use before the end of this academic year. The student activity building will consist of a ballroom, club room, stage and dressing facility for appearing artists. The Student Government Association has pledged its support for this project by mounting a campaign to contribute to the renovation of the dining hall which is expected to cost approximately $35,000.

Decisions on the use of the other buildings on campus will be announced after the results of a long-range use plan are made known and the college has assessed its projected educational needs. The plan is being compiled by a campus planning committee with the assistance of Dober & Associates, Inc., a consultant firm from Belmont, Mass.

SMA Campus Scenes

Old Kable Residence
Administrative Office Building

South Barracks

President's Home

Mess Hall

Charlestown Academy, Kable School,
Staunton Military Academy

SMA Commanded Prestigious 116-year History

by Fred Pfisterer
Leader Staff Writer

In 1860, Capt. William H. Kable founded Charlestown Academy at Charles Town, W. Va. He had served in the Confederate Army and was a University of Virginia graduate. In 1884 he moved the school to Staunton, where it was known as Kable's School until 1886.

The first-year enrollment was 75. Twenty-two of the boys were boarding students. In one of the school's first catalogs, Capt. Kable said the school offered "such thorough instruction in the prominent and important branches of instruction as will enable the student to enter the high classes of our universities."

Capt. Kable was principal, and the faculty in 1885 included F. W. Traphagen, natural sciences; Dr. W. S. Gordon, ancient and modern languages, and C. Robert Varner, mathematics.

In 1886 the military system was introduced and the name changed to Staunton Military Academy. An early commandant was Henry W. Holt, later chief justice of the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals.

In 1917, the corps was made a Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) unit. SMA has remained an "honor school" for most years since then, by War Department and later Department of Defense rating. It was the first school in the South to achieve the honor. SMA is accredited by the State Board of Education and the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

In 1900, Col. William G. Kable, son of the founder, took charge of the school and it grew steadily after he pioneered in using national advertising for the school. A frame barracks was built, and in 1904 three stories were added to the schoolhouse. Fire destroyed both buildings in the fall of 1904. Col. Kable secured funds to build the present South Barracks, intended (with the exception of the mess hall) to be a complete school plant.

This building soon became inadequate, and a building program was launched. It was concluded in 1932 and included a mess hall, North Barracks, Memorial Hall and Kable Hall. In 1966 Tullidge Hall, the junior school, was added.

When Col. Kable died in 1920, Col. Thomas H. Russell, who had been with the academy for many years as headmaster, was elected superintendent. Under his administration, the school reached its largest enrollment of nearly 700.

SMA features the Howie Rifles drill team, named for Maj. Thomas D. Howie, killed in World War II in the Battle of St. Lo in France. He was an SMA teacher and athletic director.

Superintendents have included:

Col. William H. Kable, president 1860-1912; Col. William G. Kable, president 1912-20; Col. T. H. Russell, president 1920-33; Col. Leroy L. Sutherland, superintendent 1933-35; Robert T. Hall, superintendent 1934-35;

Also these superintendents: Col. Emory V. Middour, 1935-41; Col. E. R. Warner McCabe, 1941-43; Brig. Gen. Earl McFarland, 1943-49; Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons, 1949-51; Col. Homer W. Jones, 1951-52; Col. Harrison S. Dey, 1953-73; Col. W. Crawford Moon, 1973-74.

In 1973 the school was purchased by Layne E. Leoffler of Washington, D. C., from the heirs of the founder.

Captain Kable's Mary Baldwin Family Tree

by Mary B. Carter

How many times during a course of conversation have you discovered connections between persons which you never knew existed?

Indeed, this discussion of the MBC/SMA background may not provide startling revelations, but it is not surprising, knowing Staunton, that the roots of the Kable relationship with both institutions were planted very early back in the mid-1800's when the schools were founded. Beginning with SMA's founder, Capt. William Hartman Kable (1837-1912) (see p. 5), interesting ties have existed between MBC and SMA personalities which continued through the 20th century.

To begin our sketch, it is particularly appropriate to cite an interesting fact expressed in Professor Mary Watters invaluable volume, The History of Mary Baldwin College. In the section, "From Seminary to College," she writes:

> "After the death of Professor Murray, Captain William Kable, graduate of the University of Virginia with a Master of Arts degree and founder of Staunton Military Academy, known for many years as the Kable School, became the teacher of mental and moral philosophy. He was the only man on the literary faculty. Professor Kable was much interested in the new movement for the standardization of schools and reorganized his own school in keeping with it. Perhaps he planted the idea in the minds of the faculty at Mary Baldwin that bore fruit in the later effort at standardization of the Seminary. Captain Kable undertook the teaching at Mary Baldwin temporarily only and in addition to his duties at his own school, but his connection with the Seminary established a personal bond with the Staunton Military Academy. . ."

Capt. Kable's "personal bond" with Mary Baldwin not only linked the two schools, but permeated his own personal life. His affection and loyalty for Mary Baldwin must have been extremely strong, for Capt. Kable entered all of his four daughters in Mary Baldwin!

The oldest daughter of Capt. Kable was Mary Elizabeth Kable (1876-1954) whose married name was Mrs. Elbert S. Miller. She was the first Kable daughter to attend Mary Baldwin, graduating in 1896. The Millers settled in Wyndale, Va.

Carolotta Wayt Kable (Lottie, 1878-1949), Capt. Kable's second eldest daughter, graduated with the MBC class of 1897. She married Mr. W. S. Morriss, who later became superintendent of the SMA grounds, and they lived on Market Street where the present Mary Baldwin Infirmary is housed. Her daughter (Capt. Kable's granddaughter), Dorothy, a 1926 graduate of Mary Baldwin, married William Gibbs IV, and their granddaughter, Beverley Smith (daughter of Marney Gibbs of Staunton), attended Mary Baldwin during 1975-76. Beverley Smith, therefore, was Captain Kable's great-great-granddaughter.

Kable Hall

Margarett Kable Russell (1883-1951), Capt. Kable's third daughter, considered one of Mary Baldwin's most distinguished alumna, graduated in 1902. She married Col. Thomas H. Russell, an SMA headmaster, who, upon the death of Col. William G. Kable (Capt. Kable's son and Col. Russell's brother-in-law) became superintendent of the Staunton Military Academy.

Mrs. Russell's accomplishments are numerous and include her selection as the first president of the Mary Baldwin Alumnae Association from 1926-1932, and her service again to the Alumnae Association from 1940-1942. Her eminent career and devotion to the college pinacled with her election as the first alumna to the Mary Baldwin Board of Trustees in 1933.

In 1952, the prestigious Russell Scholar Award for academic excellence was established in her honor by the Alumnae Association and the trustees of Mary Baldwin. Mrs. Russell has also been the recipient of the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award, given annually for outstanding service and character.

Her warm affection and affinity for the individual Mary Baldwin young woman is expressed by Professor Watters while describing the Christmas tradition at MBC: ". . . for some years, until she gave up her home (at SMA), Mrs. Margarett Kable Russell invited the carolers to her home for a party after the singing." And again, she emphasized her gracious hospitality: "Mrs. Russell's home became a sort of retreat for student groups."

Several years after the death of Mrs. Russell's husband in 1933, she donated a collection of books on history and political science to the Mary Baldwin Library in his honor. Today, while browsing in the Martha S. Grafton Library, one is reminded of Col. Thomas Russell and SMA by his wife's generosity in establishing this memorial collection.

. . . it is not surprising, knowing Staunton, that the roots of the Kable relationship with both institutions were planted very early back in the mid-1800's when the schools were founded.

Col. and Mrs. Tom Russell's daughter, Margaret ("Peggy") Davis also chose Mary Baldwin and graduated in 1935. She presently lives in Wisconsin. One of the Russell son's daughter, Carole Russell of Florida, recently attended Mary Baldwin too, graduating in 1974.

The youngest sister and Capt. Kable's youngest daughter was Cornelia Massie Kable (1886-1964), informally known as "Massie," and a member of the MBC class of 1903. Again, another one of Capt. Kable's daughters was drawn to the charm of an SMA gentleman. "Massie" married Col. Ted G. Russell (1885-1949, brother to Col. Tom Russell), who was a teacher and commandant at the military academy. Interestingly, they, too, lived in a house on Market Street presently owned by Mary Baldwin.

Col. and Mrs. Ted Russell had two daughters who both attended Mary Baldwin. Frances Russell graduated from Mary Baldwin in 1937 and is currently a chemistry teacher at Shenandoah College in Winchester, Va. Her sister, Marjorie Russell Nash who now lives in Texas, graduated from Mary Baldwin in 1934. Marjorie's daughter, Marjorie Kable Nash ("Rusty"), also chose her mother's alma mater and graduated in 1969.

Capt. Kable had two sons, Dr. John L. Kable and Col. William G. Kable of SMA, as well as the four daughters already discussed.

Col. William G. Kable was president of the Academy for nearly 20 years after Capt. Kable, because of his age, turned the presidency over to him in the early 1900's. His son, who would be Capt. Kable's grandson, was Col. William G. Kable II ("Billy"—1912-1972).

Col. "Billy" Kable was associated with SMA for approximately 35 years. While serving in many capacities at the school, he was most noted for his position as secretary of the Academy's corporation and liaison between the board of directors and the school's administration. He married the former Margaret Page Moffett, who attended Mary Baldwin from 1934-36. Mrs. Kable not only served on the SMA board of trustees and board of directors from the late 40's to the late 60's but, concurrently, in the late 50's, she served on the Mary Baldwin Alumnae Board.

And, incidentally, one of "Billy" Kable's sisters, Eleanor Kable Miller (1911-1966), Capt. Kable's granddaughter, had a daughter, Kable Miller Young (1938-1969), who carried on the tradition by attending Mary Baldwin in the late fifties.

In a very small nutshell, that is the story of Capt. Kable's lineage in regards to its affiliation with Mary Baldwin College. When Capt. Kable first established his boys school in that very strategic place—adjacent to a young girl's school (it was not a woman's college at that time)—he probably never knew what an impact his decision would eventually elicit by fostering such a strong personal bond between his family, SMA, and Mary Baldwin. But, on the other hand, maybe he knew all along!

Special thanks to the following persons for their research and assistance: Mrs. Page Kable, Dr. Mildred Taylor, Mrs. Mabel Kivlighan, Mr. Felix Kivlighan.

by Bernard S. Logan

Career Opportunities Expanding With New Busin

Mary Baldwin's program in Business Management, which opened last September, brought five new courses, a new full time associate professor and a new career choice for students. The response was instant. Before registration ended it was obvious the courses in accounting, marketing, and business law were among the most heavily enrolled of the session.

The College's serious commitment to the Business Management program is a significant step in the on-going effort to provide quality work in areas of career choices which have become attractive to women.

There have been other times when Mary Baldwin offered work related to the area of business. Dr. Thomas Grafton reported in a recent article in Mary Baldwin that "Miss Julia Baldwin had a School of Business Training and Bookkeeping as early as 1883 and a single bookkeeping course before that." (This should also serve as a reminder that we should take a careful look at the history of the college before we claim that we really have something new!)

The current interest in business management surfaced soon after a national conference of business and professional leaders here in 1970. This meeting brought an awareness of rapid change in the career possibilities for women in the business and professional world, and it sparked an examination of how Mary Baldwin could react to the new situation. Several considerations shaped our response to the opportunities in business management. In the past the courses offered in the curriculum more or less assumed that a woman would enter the business world as a secretary. It was now evident that emphasis should be on a program which assumed entry into the business career at the management level. Data concerning participation by women in the labor force during the last several decades indicated the emergence of a change in career expectations for women that was clearly a long-run trend. We were not looking at a popular fad of the moment.

Program Implementation

Our students recognized the implications of these developments rather quickly. While some Mary Baldwin students had always gone to work in the field of business after graduation, larger numbers of students majored in economics as well as other disciplines in the early 1970's with the intention of finding a career in the business world. While the major in economics provided one of the major routes to the career in business, there was a growing realization that a more direct approach was needed. Students requested the opportunity to take courses in accounting and business organization; these needs were met by adding a course in business organization and management to the economics program, and study of accounting was taught by a part-time faculty member. Recruiters from business who came to our campus in increasing numbers suggested the addition of basic courses in business management to the liberal arts program which would give our graduates an even greater opportunity for employment.

About a year ago all of the "cards" seemed to fall into place and the decision was made to add the business management program to the curriculum. The organization of Mary Baldwin's faculty and the structure of the curriculum made the task very easy. Courses were grouped in Division IV, Professional Training and Experiential Learning, where the January externships were an added advantage. The faculty gave approval to a series of courses in business management and to an economics-business management major. The make-up of the economics-business management major insures that those who major will be properly grounded in the understandings, insights and techniques necessary to the business world. This arrangement is evidence of the desire to build on the traditional liberal arts base.

Externships Provide Experience

Currently the courses available in business management are Principles of Accounting, Corporate Finance, Business Law, Marketing, Personnel Management, Business Organization, and the seminar. A student who wishes to major in economics-business management must take a minimum of ten courses, five in economics and five in business management. Certain courses in each of the areas, economics and business management, are required; the student may elect other courses. Work in statistics and computer science is generally required. The majority of the 36 courses required for graduation must be selected from divisions of the college other than Division IV. This requirement insures an adequate "spread" of courses which will "lead to flexibility of mind and strength of values" as set forth in the college catalogue. Those who have been involved in the development of Mary Baldwin's economics-business magement program feel that we have combined the traditional strengths of the liberal arts with the more specialized insights of business management.

The externships mentioned above provide a chance for the student to get first-hand experience in a career field of her choice away from the campus. Off-campus educational opportunities are not exactly new to MBC; work experience in teacher training, psychology, biology and chemistry—to name a few examples—have occurred over the years. Several years ago changes were made in the curriculum and the calendar to encourage a larger number of students to engage in this experience. The January Term provides time for participation in a four-week on-the-job type of situation which allows the student to see how the ideas and techniques which she is learning in the classroom actually work in practice. This kind of experience has the added advantage of being useful as an important means of assisting the student to make a better choice of career. Response to the externships has been excellent; in January 1977, 121 students participated in externships and 62 of them were located away from Staunton. The actual work is supervised by a Mary Baldwin faculty member and by a professional person at the location of the externship. A variety of externships are available in hospitals, banks, museums, radio, television, government, industrial firms and social service agencies, in locations ranging from Staunton to towns and cities from Michigan to Texas.

lanagement Program

Student Response Enthusiastic

A number of these externships involve experience in business management. This part of the business management program has been very successful and placements following graduation have resulted. The response of business and professional organizations has been most encouraging; they have given freely of their time and expertise. Without their assistance and encouragement the externship program could not exist. For their part, Mary Baldwin students put in a "full day's work" in their particular assignments for a period of four weeks without the benefit of pay in most cases. All in all, it is the judgment of students, faculty and the professional persons with whom the students work that the externships are very successful.

Since the business management program was designed to meet the needs of students, the student response was anxiously awaited. The courses were very heavily enrolled in September; an additional section of Principles of Accounting was opened to accommodate overflow. Although the program is just underway, there is considerable interest in the Economics-Business Management major.

Other disciplines at Mary Baldwin are presently exploring ways by which their students may pursue the traditional majors and by adding several course in

Banking is a popular field explored during the January off-campus term. Shown here at United Virginia/National Valley Bank in Staunton are: (l.) Joan Jamison, a senior from Tiptonville, Tenn.; and (r.) Mary Letha Warren, a sophomore from South Hill, Va.

Patricia Stratton, a senior from Shipman, Va. worked in the data processing department of the Cadillac division of General Motors Corporation in Detroit, Mich. for her January externship.

Two Mary Baldwin seniors, Betty Altaffer from Warsaw, Va. (l.), and Cynthia Vaughan (r.) from Richmond, Va. spent their January Term in personnel and finance at Smith Transfer Corporation in Verona, Va. Pictured with the students are their supervisors Mr. Dawson Watkins, director of personnel; and Mr. Waller Lescure, senior vice president for finance.

Career Opportunities Expanding With New Business Management Program

business management provide additional options when it comes to career choice. Generally speaking, any student in any program may enroll in the business management courses and thereby add to her options for employment and pursuit of career.

At this point the student response to the new program in economics-business management has been enthusiastic and exciting. There are already suggestions from students that the number of courses, especially in accounting, be enlarged. The accounting profession provides an attractive career choice for women. There are also suggestions that Mary Baldwin should take an additional step in the business management area—offer a choice of major in business management.

It is, of course, too early to say what influence the business management program will have on the number of job offers our graduates receive. The program is in its first year. If, however, the experience of our majors in economics provides any guidelines for what we may reasonably expect in terms of career opportunities, there is every reason to believe that the business management program will add significantly to the number and variety of job offers from the business world.

A new program must have a well-defined purpose; it must have the support of students; and it requires faculty who are professionally equipped to teach the work. In this last respect Mary Baldwin has been most fortunate. Mr. Gordon Shimer was appointed Associate Professor of Business Management in September and he brought an excellent combination of academic expertise and experience in business. He received an undergraduate and a masters degree in business administration from New York University and he was most recently chairman of the department of business administration and management at Southwest State University in Marshall, Minnesota. His experience in business includes employment in the management of Squibb and Co. and United States Rubber Company.

Other faculty members who share major responsibility for instruction in the business-management program are Bernard S. Logan, professor, and James J. Hainer, instructor in economics.

We have come a long way from Miss Julia Baldwin's School of Business Training and Bookkeeping. We have reaffirmed her faith in the idea that young women should be equipped to pursue a career in the world of industry, trade and commerce.

About the author . . .

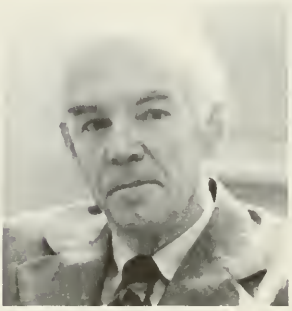
Dr. Bernard S. Logan is professor of economics and coordinator of Division IV—Professional Training and Experiential Learning. In this capacity, he serves as director of the externship program.

A member of the faculty since 1967, Dr. Logan is a former professor at Bridgewater College where he did his undergraduate work. He received his master's and doctoral degrees from the University of Wisconsin.

Business Management Staff

Bernard S. Logan
Professor of Economics

James J. Hainer
Instructor of Economics



Gordon M. Shimer
Associate Professor of Business Management

New Dimensions NEWS

President Addresses Alumnae At Campaign Dinner

"Women are capable of being whatever they want to be" Dr. Virginia L. Lester, president of Mary Baldwin, told alumnae at fall campaign kickoff dinners which marked the opening of the 1976-77 New Dimensions Programs in seven cities in North Carolina, West Virginia, and Tennessee. Alumnae had the opportunity to meet Mary Baldwin's new president and hear her plans for the college's future.

Dr. Roy K. Patteson, vice president for development, Virginia W. Munce '47, director of alumnae activities and Carol Lynn Howard '76, assistant director of development, also represented the college at the dinners.

Seven Campaign Kickoff Dinners and one campaign luncheon held in January and February included:

Area	Area Chairmen
Little Rock, Ark. January 25	Mrs. Everett Tucker, III '72
Shreveport, Ark. January 26	Mrs. James M. Lee, Jr. '67
New Orleans, La. January 27	Mrs. Armand LeGardeur '61
Baltimore, Md. February 14	Mrs. Ginger Galvez '73
Wilmington, Del. February 15	Mrs. James M. Vest, Jr. '47
Philadelphia, Penn. February 16	Mrs. Edward S. Madara, Jr. '63
Kingsport, Tenn. February 23	Mrs. Trueman Parish '62
Nashville, Tenn. February 28	Mrs. Samuel W. Bartholomew '68

Mary Mandel Huff Memorial Scholarship Established

Mrs. Pinta Huff Harris of Dallas, Texas has established a $60,000 memorial scholarship in memory of her mother, Mary Mandel Huff. Mrs. Huff was graduated from the Mary Baldwin Seminary in 1898.

This memorial scholarship will provide $3,000 per year in scholarship aid for students who demonstrate need and who have high academic standing and promise.

General Endowment, Library Acquisitions, Faculty Endowments Benefit from Recent Gifts

The Bessie Heard Endowed Book Fund has been established by Miss Bessie Heard '05 of McKinny, Texas. Funded with a principle amount of $25,000, this is the first major endowed gift received through the New Dimensions Program for the library. Income from the fund will be used to purchase additional holdings for the library.

The Mary Baldwin College Library, which currently has 126,000 volumes, has space to grow to 200,000. Gertrude C. Davis, head librarian, described the gift as "the realization of a long-time dream."

The college has received a gift of $25,000 from the estate of Mrs. Charles Murphy, mother of Mrs. Bertie Murphy Deming, national chairman for the New Dimensions Program, Mrs. William C. Nolan of El Dorado, Arkansas, and Mrs. Polly Murphy Keller, ('42) of Little Rock, Arkansas. This gift will become part of the college's permanent endowment for faculty salaries. During her lifetime, Mrs. Murphy was a loyal supporter of the college and was instrumental in ensuring the early success of the New Dimensions Program.

Mrs. Dan R. Ponder of El Paso, Texas has deeded a gift of 160.8 acres of land near El Paso to the college as an undesignated gift to the New Dimensions program. Mrs. Ponder is the mother of Mrs. Anne Ponder Dickson '61, of Dallas, Texas, a member and vice chairman of the college's Advisory Board of Visitors.

President Virginia L. Lester (l) chats with Polly Murphy Keller '42 prior to the recent campaign dinner in Little Rock, Ark.

NEW DIMENSIONS PROGRAM

Summary of Gifts By Range of Giving—December 31, 1976

	Campaign Goal $10 Million Gifts/Pledges Required		Gifts/Pledges Received
Gift Range	Number	Amount	Number	Amount
$1,000,000 up	2-3	$ 3,000,000.00	1	$1,000,000.00
$100,000-999,999	15-20	3,000,000.00	9	1,795,417.50
$10,000-99,999	90-120	2,500,000.00	56	1,595,127.49
$1,000-9,999	350-500	1,200,000.00	160	374,169.43
Under $1,000	All Others	300,000.00	1400	199,955.54
Totals		$10,000,000.00	1626	$4,964,669.96

Summary of Gifts By Purpose—June 30, 1976

	Campaign Goal $7.6 Million	Gifts/Pledges To Date
Purpose	Gifts/Pledges Required	Amount Pledged	Number	Amount Paid
Endowment for Teaching	$ 4,000,000.00	$ 909,075.00	16	$ 568,839.42
Endowment for Student Aid	1,250,000.00	336,974.59	96	254,405.61
Endowment for the Library	750,000.00	34,506.50	19	34,392.50
General Endowment	1,300,000.00	340,682.85	26	239,336.00
Current Use Funds	700,000.00	366,345.33	25	270,440.33
Undesignated	.00	1,127,634.10	1144	930,397.17
Wenger Hall	600,000.00	522,686.59	142	519,146.59
SMA	1,400,000.00	1,326,765.00	189	969,210.06
Total Pledges	$10,000,000.00	$4,964,669.96	1637	$3,786,167.68

*Includes pledges made to more than one purpose.

Summary of Gifts By Source—June 30, 1976

	Cumulative To Date
	Number	Total Pledged
Alumnae	881	$2,904,275.54
Non-Alumnae	392	969,383.06
Corporations	85	207,958.50
Foundations	9	856,401.36
Other	25	26,651.50
Totals	1392	4,964,669.96
Trustees*	46	1,675,156.88
Parents*	329	451,182.54

*Included in Alumnae or Non-Alumnae amounts above.

Trustees Extend New Dimensions Goal to $10 Million

At its quarterly meeting on January 17, the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees voted unanimously to extend the New Dimensions campaign goal to $10 million, to extend the capital campaign to June 30, 1980, and to incorporate the acquisition and development of the Staunton Military Academy campus into the campaign objectives.

The extension of the overall goal follows the college's original plan to raise $7.6 million initially and $10 million by the end of the decade. The new goal includes $1.4 million designated for the purchase and development of the recently acquired Staunton Military Academy campus. Approximately $100,000 is still needed to meet this objective.

In commenting on the revised program, Mrs. Bertie Murphy Deming, Chairman of the New Dimensions Program, stated, "The realization of these vital goals will mark a great achievement for Mary Baldwin, and will bring the college endowment which will enable it to match the scope and quality of its commitments."

Dr. Roy K. Patteson, Vice President for Development, reported that with pledges received since January 1, the college has now passed the $5 million mark in pledges and payments to New Dimensions objectives, and expressed his confidence that wide participation by alumnae, parents and friends will assure success in reaching the college's goals.

News of the Faculty

Gertrude C. Davis, head librarian, attended both the Virginia Library Association Annual Conference and a program budgeting seminar sponsored by that group in Roanoke.

Dr. Barbara Ely, professor of romance languages, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese in Atlanta on November 6. The address, which will be given in Spanish, is entitled ANA DIOSDADO: VISION TEATRAL DE LA ESPANA ACTUAL.

Dr. Virginia Francisco, associate professor of drama, on sabbatical leave during terms III, IV, and V, is completing research for a book on the acting career of Charles Kean, 1811-1868. Charles Kean, a British actor who made his debut in 1827 in the Drury Lane Theater, was best known for his roles in gentlemanly melodrama and Shakespearean tragedy.

Dr. James D. Lott, professor of English, has received notification that his short story, "The Apotheosis of Malinda Argenbright" has been accepted by the South Carolina Review for publication in their fall issue. Dr. Lott's story is a comedy about a young boy and an old woman who live in a southern town.

Dr. James L. McAllister, Jr., professor of religion and philosophy, was ordained to the Episcopal priesthood on October 17, 1976, in a ceremony at Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Staunton, presided over by Bishop William H. Marmion of the Diocese of Southwestern Virginia.

Dr. McAllister has recently had two articles published in church publications. In the spring 1976 Bicentennial issue of the Journal of Presbyterian History, Dr. McAllister wrote an article on "Francis Alison and John Witherspoon, Political Philosophers and Revolutionaries," comparing these two men's contributions to the American colonial cause. In the September 1976 issue of the historical magazine of the Protestant Episcopal Church he wrote on "Architecture and Change in the Diocese of Virginia."

Dr. Patricia H. Menk, professor of history, presented a paper, "Whose Bicentennial is it—anyhow?" at the opening meeting in September of the "Revolutionary Roundtables" seminar series sponsored by the Northern Virginia College Consortium.

Dr. Menk has also recently been elected to the Board of the Virginia Foundation for the Humanities and Public Policy.

Dr. Herbert S. Turner

Dr. Herbert S. Turner, professor emeritus of religion and philosophy, died in Staunton on November 9, 1976 at the age of eighty-four.

A graduate of Davidson College and Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, Dr. Turner joined the Mary Baldwin College faculty in 1939, serving as a full time professor and head of the department from 1947-1962. Upon his retirement from full-time teaching in 1962, he assumed the role of Chaplin of the College until 1965.

For nearly three decades, from 1919-1947, he served as minister of the historic Bethel Presbyterian Church in Augusta County. During that time, from 1935-1947, he also served as a member of the Board of Trustees of Mary Baldwin.

As a tribute to Dr. Turner, the Herbert S. Turner Fund was established by his friends in fall 1967. The fund is used for the purchase of books in history, theology, and philosophy for the Mary Baldwin library. In 1971 the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Medallion was awarded to Dr. Turner. His contributions to Mary Baldwin as a teacher and a scholar spanned a period of twenty-six years.

Dr. Ethel M. Smeak, professor of English, will serve as director of the 1977 Summer Session at St. Anne's College, Oxford University sponsored jointly by Mary Baldwin College and Davidson College. The Summer Session combines lectures and weekly tutorials conducted by Oxford faculty. The literature, history, and society of Tudor Stuart England will be the central theme of the Summer Session.

Dr. Ben H. Smith, professor of English, served as a member of a panel funded by the Virginia Foundation for the Humanities and Public Policy. The panel discussed politics and film and focused their discussion on All the King's Men. Dr. Smith has also been named as director of the 1977 Governor's School for the Gifted which will be held for the fifth year on the Mary Baldwin campus.

Dr. Frank R. Southerington, associate professor of English, acted as the Public Broadcasting Service commentator for a thirty minute documentary on Queen Elizabeth's visit to Charlottesville this past summer. Dr. Southerington commented on sites the Queen was visiting as she viewed them. The show was broadcast over Public Broadcasting stations in the United States.

Edward P. Vandiver, Jr., a former professor of English at Mary Baldwin from 1931-1947, dedicated his recent book, Highlights of Shakespeare's Plays to his former students at the six colleges he was affiliated with during his career.

Dr. Jerry Venn, associate professor of psychology, recently completed the doctoral program in school-clinical child psychology at the University of Virginia. As part of the requirements for his new specialty, Dr. Venn spent last year on sabbatical leave working in a clinic as a school-clinical child psychologist intern. Dr. Venn was recently granted a license for the private practice of psychology.

Dr. John W. Wagener, assistant professor of psychology, presented a paper, "Age Differences in Auditory Lateralization," at the annual October meeting of the Gerontological Society in New York. His paper came out of research he conducted under a grant at the Duke Center for the Study of Aging and Human Development in Durham, N.C. during 1975-76. His paper dealt with the difficulty older persons encounter understanding speech in situations where surrounding auditory space is noisy.

Retirement Announcement

Two long-term members of the Mary Baldwin family will retire at the end of the school year; Fletcher Collins, Jr., Professor of Dramatic Arts, after 31 years and Gertrude Coddington Davis, Librarian, after 20 years. These two members of the Mary Baldwin faculty have numerous friends among alumnae who are especially urged to attend Alumnae Homecoming Weekend to offer best wishes for their future. Drama majors are invited to join the Collins at a post-performance party at "The Oaks" Saturday evening, April 23. All former student assistants who served in the library are invited for sherry in the Reigner Room before luncheon Saturday, April 23.

If you cannot be present, write a note to express your good wishes.

CREATIVE VACATION

A week in June or July at Mary Baldwin

Mornings on your own with a chance to do things you've been wanting to do: Art studio . . . Potter's wheel . . . Theater games. . . .

Unhurried afternoons: Uncrowded open space. Mountains. . . .

New plays at candlelit dinner-theater in elegant Victorian house . . . Picnic and outdoor Shakespeare. Medieval feast . . . Dancing . . . Music-drama.

Write Mary Baldwin College, Business Office, for more information.

News from the Class

1920

JEAN PARKER Wall, Staunton, Va., was honored in February, 1976, upon the completion of 45 years as organist and choir director at Second Presbyterian Church. In addition to other gifts, Mrs. Wall was presented a plaque to be installed on the organ in her honor.

1923

FRANCES HARRIS Weaver, Victoria, Va., recently gave a portrait of her late husband, Judge Robert S. Weaver, Jr., to the Lunenburg Court House.

AITIE McDONALD Foan, Maggie, N.C., writes that she is looking forward to the graduation of her godchild, Susan Dunlap, from Mary Baldwin next year and to seeing the many changes since her last visit in 1963.

1926

SIBELLE REID Cushman, Miami, Fla., recently celebrated her 25th wedding anniversary. Her son, Franklin, a senior at U.Va., was elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

1927—50th Reunion April 22-23

Your reunion correspondent, MARGUERITE DUNTON Jarvis, of Machipongo, Va., writes: "Complementing my role as housewife I have participated in many phases of work in my Methodist church, including being organist for 20 years. My husband and I have one daughter, Rita, and six grandchildren. I want to thank each of you for your splendid response to the questionnaire and for sharing your feelings on the faculty members who had the strongest influence on your life. For me, it has been like a brief visit with each of you. I plan to be back on campus April 22 and 23 and I hope to see you there. The professor who had the strongest influence on my life was Miss Edith Latane."

ELIZABETH RICHARDSON Bane, Grundy, Va., earned a degree in drama from Marjorie Webster College in Washington, D. C. after leaving MBC. She and her husband have been active in Eastern Star and Shriners activities—enjoying chapter meetings and cruises. She has three children and six grandchildren.

MARGARET BOWEN, Laurinburg, N.C., continued her education with graduate work at PSCF in Richmond and at Union Theological Seminary and Columbia University in New York City. She has been director of Christian education in four Southern Presbyterian churches during her career. She was also professor at Flora McDonald College and St. Andrews Presbyterian College. Margaret retired in 1971. Margaret writes she will be unable to attend the reunion because of health problems.

VIRGINIA WOOD Carroll, Miami, Fla., has been involved in radio and television programs in Toledo, Ohio, and Detroit, Mich., for 20 years. Her specialty was talk shows and pet programs. At present, she is semi-retired and still does occasional TV commercials. The strongest influence on her life was Miss Lillian Ireland, she says.

SARA FRANCES RALSTON Clowser, Winchester, Va., says, "I am the typical small town housewife—active in Red Cross, 'Meals on Wheels,' garden club work, etc. I find working with the blind my most rewarding activity. My husband is still very active in his hardware business. We have no children, but thoroughly enjoy our numerous nieces and nephews and their families."

KATHERINE McDONALD Conklin, Baltimore, Md., majored in Domestic Science. Her activities include being a member of the board of Union Memorial Hospital and a volunteer worker. Her husband is president of Machinery and Sales Company.

NANCY McNEEL Currence, Charleston, W. Va., was a college student at Mary Baldwin for two years, transferring to the University of West Virginia. After graduation and again after the death of her husband, she taught in high school. She is active in church work, volunteer work at the local art museum and in 'Meals on Wheels.' She has four daughters and eight grandchildren. Strongest influence on her life was Miss Edith Latane and Miss Alma Montgomery.

MARGUERITE RUTHERFORD Dickerson, Newport News, Va., has been active in all phases of work in her Presbyterian church. She is state regent of The Daughters of American Colonists of Virginia. Her husband is now deceased. Her two sons are graduates of V.P.I. with M.A. degrees; T. C. is principal of a school in Louisa County and John is an engineer with U. S. Steel. The strongest influence on her life was Miss Flora Stuart.

BERTHA GOODMAN Duncan, Pine Bluff, Ark., has been very active in the work of her Episcopal church. Her husband died in 1960. She has three sons, Peter, Hugh, and Christopher, and four grandchildren. Strongest influence on her life—Miss Fannie Strauss.

BESS NETHKIN Hering, Bridgewater, Va., writes, "I have been a homemaker. My husband was a major in the Air Force for 23 years and was in civil service for nine years, retiring in 1971. He died in 1975. I have one son. The strongest influence on my life was Miss Fannie Strauss."

AUDREY BLACKFORD Higgs, Staunton, Va., has served three terms

as president of the Staunton Woman's Club and has done some free-lance writing. Her husband, now deceased, was a horticulturist. She has three sons and a daughter. Strongest influence on her life was Miss Edith Latane and Miss Alma Montgomery.

CARTER JAUDON Hunter, Anniston, Ala., says "I love to play bridge, finally making Life Master. My husband is retired from the banking business and we travel a little. We celebrated our 50th wedding anniversary in 1977. Our one daughter is married, has two children and lives here in Anniston." Strongest influence: Miss Lydia Morse and Mr. King.

KATHERINE PERRY James, Springfield, Ohio, attended Westminster Choir College in Princeton, New Jersey, after Mary Baldwin. For 35 years she assisted Norman, her husband, with church music. In 1963 she got her degree from Wittenberg University. She taught in public schools for 36 years. She is now retired. She says, "My husband is well and also retired. We have three married sons and four grandchildren." Strongest influence: Miss Nancy McFarland and Miss Fannie Strauss.

NETTIE DUBOSE JUNKIN, at present a missionary in Taiwan, Republic of China, will move to Tazewell, Virginia, next spring. She has served on the board of Woman's Work in the Presbyterian Church U. S. and as editor of children's materials for the Sunday School in China. Strongest influence: Miss Flora Stuart and Miss Janie McGaughey.

AMANDA BELLE McCASKILL, Washington, D. C., graduated from Queens College in Charlotte, North Carolina. In 1933 she became a U. S. Government worker, ending her career as an administrative assistant in the Office of Education in 1965. Since retirement, she has had a part-time job and usually takes one extended tour each year.

KATHERINE SEE, Floyd, Va., worked from 1931 to 1950 at the Presbyterian Board of Education and Ministerial Relief, Louisville, Ky., in charge of literature. She took evening classes at the University of Louisville, getting her M.A. in 1943. From 1950 to 1971 she worked at the Board of Education, Presbyterian Church, U. S., Richmond, Virginia, retiring in 1974. Her plans are to be at the reunion in April. Strongest influence: Miss Flora Stuart and Miss Nancy McFarland.

ROBERTA KENDRICK Massie Spalding, Flint Hill, Va., transferred to a teachers' college and taught there for ten years after graduation. She was Commissioner of Revenue for Rappahannock County for 20 years, retiring in 1972. Her activities include work in the U.D.C. She says, "I have been twice married and twice widowed. My son, Robert Massie, Jr., is Supervisor of Special Education in the city of Richmond." Strongest influence on her life: Miss Martha Hamilton and Miss Price.

FRANCES STALEY Smith, Frederick, Md., has a daughter-in-law, CAROLYN GRIFFIN, who attended Mary Baldwin. Frances taught Home Economics for 20 years and has been active in social work. She says, "My husband, George, is approaching semi-retirement in January and we can hardly wait. Son, George, Jr., is a doctor practicing in Frederick. Daughter Linda is married to an Air Force major now living in California." Strongest influence: Professor Schmidt and Miss Alma Montgomery.

ANNE JONES Richter, Montclair, N.J., (May to November); Opa Lacka, Florida (November to May), worked for R. R. Bowker Company, publishers, where she became editor of the book department and secretary of the company, retiring after 33 years. She has been active in Women's National Book Association and is now their national treasurer. She was also chairman of the publishing division of the Special Library Association and has served on the Board of the American Society of Indexes and Book League in New York. Strongest influence: Miss Edith Latane and Miss Flora Stuart.

MARY WEADE Switzer, Waynesboro, Va., says, "For 25 years I served as church organist in the Methodist churches of Staunton and Waynesboro and have taught piano. I have been active in church work and garden club organizations. My husband is now retired. We have one son who is a special assistant attorney general of Virginia." Strongest influence: Miss Edith Latane, Miss Flora Stuart, and Miss Nancy McFarland, also Professor Schmidt.

MARY HAMILTON WILLIAMS Walker, Exmore, Va., says that after marriage, she was first and foremost a homemaker, supplementing that role with active participation in the work of her church, membership in the Eastern Shore Woman's Club and various historical societies. Her husband died in 1945. She has two sons, a daughter, and nine grandchildren. Strongest influence: Miss Edith Latane and Miss Flora Stuart.

MILDRED ROBERTSON Warlick, Dallas, Texas, says, "I do oil painting somewhere between "Sunday painter" and professional artist. My husband has retired from his manufacturing firm. We have a son and daughter, both of whom are married—also three granddaughters, one of whom is married." Strongest influence on life: Miss Flora Stuart and Miss Alma Montgomery.

MARJORIE TROTTER Wood, Aiken, S.C., earned a degree in Library Science after graduation from MBC. She was head of the Order Department at Penn State College Library; on the board of South End Day Nursery, Boston, Mass., and worked in community services and the Visiting Nurses Association in Port Washington, N.Y. Her husband is now retired. Their twin sons are married and her only daughter is deceased. They have six grandchildren. The Woods left December 1 for two months in Southern Spain and the Canary Islands. Strongest influence on her life: Miss Marianna Higgins.

1928

LOUISE JACKSON Stewart, Coral Gables, Fla., is still enjoying retirement, playing golf, fishing, bowling, playing bridge, and partying.

1932—45th Reunion—April 22-23

1933

MARGARET KING Hardman, Trenton, N.J., has four married sons and nine grandchildren. She took a three month motor-home trip to Panama last year.

VIRGINIA BRAND Francis, Salinas, Calif., has retired, but is still teaching folk dancing, taking Audubon field trips, and landscaping her home. She also is deeply involved in church life.

CHARLOTTE TAYLOR, Garanhuns, Brazil, has written of her work with the Conference of Presbyterian Leaders and Workers held in Recife this year. They had an attendance of 186 persons who represented seven denominations and six nations.

1934

BETTY HARRISON Roberts, Falls Church, Va., is involved in projects in her hometown which keep her interested and busy. Her son is finishing his education at Old Dominion University in Norfolk.

1936

CATHERINE MIDELBURG, San Antonio, Texas, is thoroughly enjoying her retirement from Civil Service.

1937—40th Reunion—April 22-23

1939

FRANCES RUE Godwin, Phoenix, Ariz., writes that her four children are grown and gone from home. She is working on the staff of a large church and finds that very challenging. She and her husband travel yearly throughout the South Pacific.

KATHRINE BRETCH Binkley, Oklahoma City, Okla., is serving as Director of International Education at the National Cowboy Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center in Oklahoma City.

1940

JEAN BAUM Mair, Northampton, Mass., has accepted a new job as a librarian at Williston-Northampton School. Her husband is now Dean of Smith College.

1942—35th Reunion—April 22-23

BETTY BAILEY Hall, Houston, Texas, has three sons and two grandchildren.

Betty is vice president of the Women of the Church in the First Presbyterian Church and the Houston Alumni of Phi Beta Kappa.

1943

MARGARET PRICE Pinson, Williamson, W. Va., writes that their four oldest daughters have all finished college and are working. Their youngest daughter is still at home.

HARRIETT HARRINGTON Connolly, Colorado Springs, Colo., writes that her two older daughters have "long flown from home" and that the youngest is a senior at the University of Colorado in Boulder. Harriett teaches English and Latin at the Air Academy High School.

FRANCES KNIGHT Nollet, Endwell, N.Y., is teaching kindergarten in Binghamton and has added flying to her list of hobbies which include old clocks and antiques. Her husband, Bob, is a private pilot.

1944

ANNE HANEKE McGough, Lima, Ohio, stays busy with her volunteer hospital work, golf, and tennis. Her daughter, Trish, is married to a doctor and attends law school at Ohio State. Kathleen graduated from O.S.U. in nursing and is now at the University Hospital. Anne's son, Mike, has joined her husband in their family insurance agency.

MILDRED ROYCROFT Teer, Durham, N.C., has three granddaughters and they all live in Durham. Her daughter, Lyda, is a senior at E.C.U. and had an art show in May. Daughter Nancy is a rising junior at U.N.C., Chapel Hill.

1945

BETTY NEISLER Timberlake, Lake Waccamaw, N.C., writes that her daughter, Vicki, entered Roanoke College this fall.

JANE SCOTT ("Scottie") Wilson, who recently moved to a new home in the West End of Richmond, Va., is working in personnel in the Commonwealth of Virginia Department of Welfare.

CARMEN HAYES Anderson, Texas City, Texas, and Allan have only one son at home now—13-year-old John. They took a trip to Spain and Tangier last year and planned a trip to London and Amsterdam in November.

CARY BRYAN Boyd, Columbia, S.C., recently wrote that her oldest daughter had just graduated from the University of Georgia in Interior Design. Her youngest, Virginia, is now attending Mary Baldwin.

1947—30th Reunion—April 22-23

MIRIAM BUCKLES Helmen, Aurora, Ill., writes that her twins are sophomores at DePauw University in Greencastle, Indiana. Their daughter, Kim, graduated in May.

BETTY LANE McKay, Aurora, Ohio, tells us that her daughter, Susan, just graduated from Katharine Gibbs School in Boston and her son, John, just completed his second year at law school at the University of Pacific in Sacramento. Betty stays busy as a travel consultant.

ANNE CLAUSSEN Barton, Augusta, Ga., studied sculpture in Italy for three months this past summer. Anne's daughter, Cathy, is a senior at MBC and her oldest son is now a captain in the Air Force in San Antonio.

HARRY LEE THOMPSON Billington, Franklin, Tenn., is now a proud grandmother, as her oldest daughter, Anne Cecil, has a baby girl. Her son, William, Jr., graduated from S.M.U. in Dallas and is working in Houston. May, the youngest, is at the University of Idaho. Harry Lee still has a one-third interest in an antique business.

JO FARRIS Huff, St. Matthews, S.C., writes that her son, Tom, will be attending graduate school in Kentucky; daughter, Anne, will go to Earlham to study for her master's in Ministry; and son, Bo, is working with retarded adults. Jo is chairman of the Learning Resource Center, Orangeburg-Calhoun Technical College. Rouse is working around the clock as a "country doctor" and is still making house calls!

1949

Notice of the death of ROBIN CARR Wingfield has been received in the Alumnae Office from her sister, JESSIE CARR Haden '54. She was former vice chairman and was the first woman town chairman of the Wethersfield (Conn.) Republican Party. With her husband, she received the 1976 Republican of the Year Award. She was former vice president of the Wethersfield Garden Club and was active in many town organizations. She is survived by her husband and three daughters.

MARGARET HOOKS Wilson, Memphis, Tenn., recently became a grandmother when her daughter, Libby, had a baby. Daughter Lee is married to a minister and Lynn, the youngest, is still at home.

BETTY FARRINGTON Felegara, Centerfield, Mass., is enjoying living on the Cape. Daughter Susan graduated from Dean Junior College and is now working. Son Andy toured Alaska during the summer.

BUNNY MILLNER Bishopric, Sarasota, Fla., is working on the Sarasota City Planning Board and with Planned Parenthood. Her daughter, Nanette, is at Duke Medical School and daughter Susie graduated from Radcliffe and is working in Washington, D.C. Bunny's son, George, is at Duke after spending the summer in France. George, Sr., stays busy with his practice and medical education work.

JEANNE DUBOIS Loar, Calgary, Alberta, Canada, has been in Calgary for ten years where Bill is vice president of Sun Oil Company. Jeanne plays a lot of tennis and still enjoys choral singing.

IBBY RAWLS Macklin, Richmond, Va., had a visit last summer from DIXIE SEAGLER Hoaglin and her 12-year-old daughter for ten days. NANCY RAWLS Watson also spent one night with them and Ibby and her family visited with GIN NURNEY Harlow in Suffolk, Virginia. Her son, Mack, visited for ten days with Dixie and her family.

1952—25th Reunion—April 22-23

MARGARET McLAUGHLIN Grove, Charlottesville, Va., class correspondent, presents her pre-25th reunion report as follows:

These answers to the Pop Quiz for the Class of '52 may inspire even greater attendance at our 25th reunion! The responses have been fun, inspiring and imaginative—I'll be bringing them in April for all to see.

True and False Questions:

Almost all answered TRUE to "I have a '52 costume that still fits" except for JESSICA GILLIAM Boatright who says "you've got to be out of your mind!" Even those who lied plan to bring something of that era to the reunion (would you believe a gym suit?) BETSY BOOTH of Tiffany fame reminds us that she used to weigh 95 pounds.

ANNIE BROWN Peacock wins the prize for complete lyrics to our song:

We're the Class of '52—there ain't nothing we can't do.
We're the girls that show 'em how—boys stop and then say WOW!
Someday we'll graduate—listen, we'll give the date—
Give a cheer for the year—ONE NINE
FIVE TWO!

EVERYONE agrees that Dr. and Mrs. G. will remember us the minute we step past Ham and Jam!

Essay Question Responses:

Present careers ranged from mother, homemaker, chauffeur, cook to artist, guidance counselor, graduate student, owner of travel service, research assistant, development director, assistant professor of anthropology (our own ANN SCHLOSSER!) and a multitude of volunteer services.

In response to "I am grateful to Mary Baldwin for" . . . you said, "a student body and faculty who shared their lives with me . . . unanimous feelings of good friendships . . . instilling in me the desire to continue to learn . . . for great people who greatly influenced the shaping of my life . . . supporting me as an individual . . . for teaching me to use my mind . . . for a Christian, quality education . . . for the happiest four years of my life."

"I am thinking a lot about" provoked these thoughts: "trying to survive graduate school and five teenagers (from FLORRIS WIMBERLEY Hellinger), the direction my family and I are heading, how can I lead a more productive life, my daughter going to MBC (IRENE BARRY Reilly plans a real reunion—her daughter is a sophomore), the children's play I'm directing (CONNIE DETRICK Lamons), where did 25 years go?"

Why I wouldn't miss my 25th reunion brought forth: "to see friends and faculty once again, renew old friendships, to see our beautiful campus, curiosity!, because our reunions have been such fun, to show I'm better, smarter, more stylish, and oh, so much wiser!"

Perhaps these familiar names who will be returning will inspire the rest of you! JOY CHAPMAN McDonald, JANET RUSSELL Steelman, BETTY GWALTNEY Schutte, RUTH HARRISON Quillan, LYNN LYTTON Hamer, ANN PAULETT Holden, PAT CASEY Del Rose, and all those already mentioned! MARY LAMONT Wade will be presiding as Alumnae Association President and promises to bring a large Richmond contingency including ANN FOWLKES Dodd, MARGIE SYKES Turnbull, JULIA BUDWELL Barbara, JUDY VALZ Good, ENNIE EASON, and PEGGY SHELTON. Surely ELSIE NELMS Nash and JEAN AMORY Warlick can get together a group from the Norfolk-Virginia Beach area! The only person definitely unable to come was from MARGARET KING Stanley whose daughter, Terry, will be presented at the Waco Cotton Palace that same April weekend; however, she reminds us that she and NIPPY WATSON Scott promised to be chairman of our 50th.

1954

JEAN FEAR Clements, Palmyra, Pa., has just recently moved to the area with her husband who was transferred to manage Penney's at Lebanon, Pa.

JESSIE CARR Haden, Charlottesville, Va., the mother of three, is still teaching at Miller School, a private school for boys. She was appointed to serve on the Albemarle County School Board and also serves as a Deacon in her church.

1956

PATTY PARKE Gibian, Southport, Conn., married Paul Gibian in April of 1976 and became the "instant mother" of seven children—six boys and one girl, ages 14-22.

ANN RITCHIE Robertson, Augusta, Ga., spent the summer in Iran where Alex was a visiting professor of pediatrics at the medical school in Shiraz for six weeks. After this they toured London, Rome, Greece, Cairo, and France.

1957—20th Reunion—April 22-23

1958

From LYDIA WOODS Peale, Chatham, Va., we learn that she is now serving as English Department Head at Chatham Hall and is also a faculty representative on the Selection Committee for the Head of the School.

1960

VICKY HILL Rimstidt, Alexandria, Ky., is enjoying farm life and teaching a small class in English smocking.

1961

PATRICIA LIEBERT Riddick, St. Petersburg, Fla., and her husband recently bought a home on the waterfront which they are thoroughly enjoying. Her husband is stationed at MacDill A.F.B. in Tampa. They have three children: Gail (14), Lynn (12), and Gray (8).

OLIVIA ROGERS Alderson, Dallas, Texas, is teaching pre-school at the Lamplighter School, playing tennis, and enjoying life with sons Russell, 9, and Rhoades, 6½.

1962—15th Reunion—April 22-23

LINDA DOLLY Hammack, Fairfax, Va., is enjoying her job as a producer for the Radio/Film/TV section of the American Red Cross. She and her husband recently bought a sailboat and are taking advantage of living near the Chesapeake Bay.

BETTY KELLEY Peple, Richmond, Va., has written to say that Ned has joined the Marketing Division of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Virginia. Troy (13) and Ned had major roles in the Barn Dinner Theater production of "A Thousand Clowns" which ran from July through September.

ANN LEE ALEXANDER Cook, Yorktown, Va., writes that her two daughters, Lee-Ann and Elizabeth, are her two joys. Ann is still a senior counselor at Tabb High School in York County. She and her husband, Rod, had a grand time at their first hydro-plane races near Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, with Ray and IVA ZEILER Lucas.

1963

LYN WARNER Shiver, North Caldwell, N.J., and her husband are enjoying the sights in and around New York City. Mary Hayes is in second grade and Jody is in nursery school.

MELISSA KIMES Mullgardt, Webster Groves, Mo., keeps busy with three preschoolers and managed to teach part-time at Washington University Medical School last winter.

MICKEY McCOWN Robideau, Pfafftown, N.C., just recently moved to the Winston-Salem area where her husband is with the Hanes Corporation. They have three daughters.

JANE ELLEN VAUGHAN Lockwood, Flagstaff, Ariz., is currently working on a Bachelor of Fine Arts at Northern Arizona University and was recently invited to become an intern in weaving at the Museum of Northern Arizona in a new Art Institute Program.

MARGIE WOODSON Nea, Richmond, Va., is a Girl Scout leader, head of a puppet troop for the Junior League, and is head of a team of teachers at her church. She is taking piano lessons and is the room mother for her daughter's class at St. Catherine's.

1964

PAULA GREENLEE Barber, San Jose, Calif., is doing volunteer work with the Junior League and studying and teaching the Bible. The Barbers have two sons, ages four and six.

JOY WARREN Murphy, Littleton, Colo., stays busy taking care of her husband's office and accounting work. Davis is an anesthesiologist at General Rose Hospital in Denver. Joy writes that she feels like a real Westerner with four horses and a pony.

FAIRFAX HARDESTY Montgomery, Salisbury, Md., tells us that her husband, Roy, is a veterinary diagnostician with the state of Maryland. Their son, Duncan (7) and daughter, Allison (5) keep her busy.

BYRD WILLIAMS Abbott, Bellevue, Wash., and her family are excited over their recent move to Washington. Her husband, Cort, is still with the Sea-Land Services, Inc. Their ten-year-old son, Tez, was awarded a trophy in swimming this year and was the leading scorer for his age group in his soccer league. Jay, 7, is also interested in swimming and soccer.

1965

DALE MIDGETTE Hurd, Gainesville, Fla., and her husband, Russell, have been busy planning a new home which will include rooms for Dale's mother. Dale works as a counselor at a middle school three days a week.

BETTY RAY MATTHEWS Morgan, Maitland, Fla., is actively involved in Junior League work. Her husband, Roy, is now a partner in his law firm and they have two children, Heather (6) and Tommy (4).

ADELIA HAIGLER Turner, Montgomery, Ala., says that her husband, Wayne, is happy in private law practice, but Bess (2) is a handful.

JANE SMITH Sydnor, Roanoke, Va., has been living in Roanoke for two years where her husband is an ear-nose-throat surgeon. They have two children, ages three and four.

1966

LOULIE JOHNSTON Metzger, Raleigh, N.C., is a full-time homemaker and Jim is associated with I.B.M. They have two children, Timmy and Lynn.

ANN WADE Godwin, East Granby, Conn., and her husband are homesteading a small horse farm in northern Connecticut. Richard works with the Aetna's Home Office. Rick is an active nine-year-old, Beth is a busy two and a half, and Mandy is a true toddler.

ANN YINGLING Foubert, Delhi, N.Y., is director of music at the First Presbyterian Church and on the board of directors of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringer, Area II.

1967—10th Reunion—April 22-23

Reunion correspondent, NANCY FALKENBERG, Atlanta, Ga., enjoys

Atlanta and has taken up horseback riding again. Her work takes her traveling occasionally, most recently to the Philadelphia area. The following classmates replied to her appeal for news:

DIANE DINWIDDIE Andre, Winchester, Va., has a new nickname, "Sherry" and has become quite the homemaker with "Great Books" discussions, tennis, and needlepoint. Her husband is now a full partner in his law firm. They have two boys.

FRANCES LARAMORE Ashburn and her husband give natural childbirth lectures. They have two children, Sara (6) and Patrick (2). They have moved into a new home in Dearborn Heights, Mich.

JANICE SMITH Barry and Michael have recently moved to Spartanburg, S.C., where Michael is administrator of a hospital. They have two children, Michael, Jr., 5½, and Patricia, just 19 months.

MALLORY GALLION Bear, Montgomery, Ala., has taken an interior design course from the New York School of Design. She and Joe have three children, Jody, Travis, and Molly.

ANNE WILLIAMS Blanks is a P.T.A. board member and chairperson of the Wives' Club Bazaar. She and her husband reside in Omaha, Neb.

ENNES LITTRELL Butler has done social work for the past five years and has recently moved to a family services agency. She has one child, Albert (4), and resides in Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

PEGGY ANDERSON Carr lacks only her thesis to receive her master's degree in Special Education and is head of a prevocational workshop for mentally retarded teenagers. She edited the new Junior League of Dallas Cookbook.

MARJORIE WHITESELL Chittum the "older girl" in our class, still lives in Staunton. Marjorie has taught first grade for nine years and has had several of MBC's professors' children in her classroom. Her son, Doug, has married and her daughter, Tammy, is now in business school.

PENNY TURNER Coleman occasionally teaches a Parent Effectiveness Training Course for Mobile County Mental Health Association. She and her husband live on Washington Square in Mobile, Ala., and have one child, Elizabeth Collins, age 2.

ANNE SLATER Coyner was remarried in July of 1975 to Gray Coyner. She has one daughter, Meg, and resides at Stoneleigh Cottage, Middleburg, Va. Anne is acting head of the Travel Department of American Youth Hostels, Inc.

SARAH NASH Crowder, Winston-Salem, N.C., is in the process of getting her real estate license and plans to work with her husband at Crowder Realty and Investment Company. They have one son, Brian, who is five years old.

SUSAN BENTON Dodson and her family recently moved from San Francisco to Frankfurt, Germany, where her husband is head of the child welfare clinic at the 9th General Hospital. Her daughter, Nicole, is 18 months.

LOUISE TABB Edge, Richmond, Va., is co-chairman of the Richmond alumnae chapter. Jim is with United Virginia Bankshares. They have one daughter, Laura Randolph.

LIBBA HOLLAND Few lives in Atlanta, Ga., where her husband is involved in real estate. They have one son, Michael.

SANDRA GRIZZARD Greer, Columbia, S.C., works part-time in a drop-in nursery and taught swimming lessons last summer in her pool. They have two children.

JEANNY LAMBETH Hart and Ladson live on a mountain top in Brevard, N.C. Ladson was district county judge for Brevard County, but returned to private practice in December. They have two children, Ladson and Katherine.

ANNE HERNDON, Winston-Salem, N.C., is assistant professor of psychology at Bowman Gray School of Medicine in Winston-Salem and has participated in several science seminars at MBC.

GINA CARTER Holden has a copyright for a play she co-authored and directed for the Bicentennial. Her husband is pastor of the Carolina Beach, N.C., Presbyterian Church.

KATHY RICE Knowles, Harrisonburg, Va., will soon be a registered cytotechnologist. She and Robbie have a new home and two children, Susan and Jim.

NANCY STEDMAN Major is too far away to attend our reunion as she lives in San Francisco. She is a manager of training development at Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company.

FRANCES HARVEY Mallison, Greenville, N.C., will soon complete a master's in Library Science. She and her husband have two children, Mark and Myra, ages six and three.

SUSAN MASSIE Johnson and Dick reside in Lebanon, Ohio, where she is a librarian at the Miami Valley School. Dick commutes to Cincinnati for his work.

BARBARA SHULER Mayo is a private consultant in marine biology and is director of the Provincetown, Mass., Center for Coastal Studies.

MARGARET JENNINGS Metz, Clearwater, Fla., and her husband moved two years ago into a house they designed and built. They have two children, Melissa and Merriann.

GINGER TAYLOR Otts is a member of the Mobile (Ala.) Junior League and does a great deal of volunteer work. Her husband is self-employed. They have two children.

MARGARET ALLEN Palmer is happy at home, but still does tutoring when time permits. She and her family reside in Nashville, Tenn.

JEAN KAVANAUGH Parker and her husband live 20 miles north of Tallahassee, Fla. Jean is an associate university attorney for F.S.U. and her husband is in private practice in Tallahassee.

ELLEN RYAN Pearson is married to a lawyer in Norfolk, Va., and they have three children.

DIANE NICHOLS Rogers and Milton moved to Campbellsville, Ky., three years ago and like it. He is a college professor of botany. They have three children, David, Sally, and Tom.

ANN HUMPHREY Sanders is a housewife and an historian. She is working on her doctoral dissertation at the University of Virginia.

SUSAN KELLEY Schallhorn is active with the Junior League of Little Rock, Ark., and has one child, Caroline. Her husband is a stockbroker.

SALLIE CHELLIS Schisler and Dick live in Portsmouth, Ohio. Sallie is administrative assistant to the Board of Governors—Scioto County Area Foundation. Her husband is an attorney. They have two sons.

MARGARET McNEESE Schuessler, Houston, Texas, is assistant professor of pediatrics at the University of Texas Medical School and her husband is doing his residency in cardio-vascular surgery at Baylor College of Medicine. They have a daughter, Catherine, 4.

SALLY BELL Schwarz who formerly worked at Grady Memorial in Atlanta, now lives in Daytona Beach, Fla., where her husband teaches M.D. residents in Family Medicine. They have two children.

CAROL NOEL Seaman's husband is the assistant director of the Florida Sea Grant Program in Gainesville, Fla. They have two children. Carol does catering in her spare time.

NANCY CULPEPER Sebren and her husband are currently in Okinawa, Japan. They have two children, Hall and Matthew. Nancy is enjoying her travels around the world as the wife of a USAF pilot.

CAROL LAWS Slonaker, Richmond, Va., and C. L. have been renovating a home built in 1898. C. L. is principal of Crestwood Elementary School in Bon Air. They have two children.

CAROLYN WOOD Stuber worked at Emory University as a financial aid officer two years ago. She and her husband live now in Savannah, Ga., and they have two children, Brook and Brent.

LUCIA LIONBERGER Thomas and her husband moved this summer to Washington, N.C. They have twins, Billy and Bobby, age 5. Doug is a project manager with WIMCO.

SUZANNE PERRY Turnbull is doing volunteer work while her husband is finishing his residency in orthopedic surgery at the Campbell Clinic in Memphis. They have one daughter, Marshall Leigh, born in September, 1976.

JENNIFER VAN BRUNT, Denver, Colo., received her Ph.D. in Genetics from the University of California in 1974. She has been working at the National Jewish Hospital and Research Center as a postdoctoral fellow for two years with research in molecular biology.

LYNN WILLIAMS Wood works in the Montgomery County, Md., public schools as a high school Spanish teacher. Her husband instructs French and Spanish and is writing a book on historical French influence in Maryland.

ELLEN MOSS Westfall was married in 1975 to Richard Westfall and had a son in 1976. Ellen has retired from her work at First National Bank of South Carolina to become a fulltime housewife in Columbia, S.C.

SUE McDOWELL Whetlock has just completed two years teaching in elementary schools. Ed is with the Federal Government at the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard. They live in Lansdale, Pa.

CARLA COOPER Winter and Bill have two girls. Carla stays very busy with volunteer work and her husband is an attorney. They reside in Gaffney, S.C.

The Rev. CALLY ROGERS Witte, Chapel Hill, N.C., is now on the staff of the United Church of Christ as associate in the Office for Church Life and Leadership. Her husband, Frank, is a clinical psychologist. She has served as a panelist at MBC on "Women in American Religion."

1968

BETTY BASKERVILLE Daner, Richmond, Va., is still supervising the neuropathology lab at the Medical College of Virginia. Her husband, Bill, is a lawyer with the Life Insurance Company of Virginia.

JANET STOFFEL Monahan, Seneca, S.C., stays busy with one-year-old William, although she has been making plans to resume a position in clinical micro-biology when she and Mike move. Mike will become a member of the faculty at the University of Denver.

BETSY KENIG Byford, Simpsonville, S.C., is enjoying small town living with Anne (5) and Peter (1½). Bruce is now a senior field engineer for Digital Equipment Company.

MARGARET ANNE ROBERTSON Fohl, Richmond, Va., writes that her husband has opened a dermatology practice and that her son is four years old. BETTY LYONS Scott and Margaret Anne took their children to Disney World this past June.

LUNDIE SPENCE Mauldin, Carrollton, Ga., is continuing to teach marine sciences on the high school level. Her husband, John, recently completed his M.A. in psychology.

"MABS" SMITH Hicks has just recently moved to Greensboro, N.C., where Richard is manager of the legal services for Texfi Industries, Inc. They are quite busy redoing their home.

JEANNETTE NORFLEET, Athens, Ohio, is a graduate student in the School of Hearing and Speech Science at Ohio University working toward a master's in Speech Pathology.

JUDITH YATES Tor, Corpus Christi, Texas, is teaching math and her husband, Denny, is practicing law in Corpus Christi. Her spare time is devoted to horseback riding.

SUSAN GAMBLE Dankel, Wilmington, N.C., is working for the city of Wilmington, having recently been promoted to Cost-Benefit Analyst in the Office of Evaluation.

CYNTHIA KNIGHT Wier, Houston, Texas, is a writer for Ogilvy and Mather International Advertising Company and is also a free-lance writer for the magazine, Houston Home and Garden. Tom is a C.P.A. and tax manager for Gray Tool Company in Houston.

ANDREA METTEY Pascal, Terre Haute, Ind., recently received an M.A. degree in French from Central Connecticut College and is now working as administrative assistant to the athletic director at the Indiana State University. David is completing his degree requirements for a Ph.D. at Indiana State University.

1969

KAY CULBREATH Young, Tampa, Fla., is chairman of the history department at a private high school. She and Roy play tennis, hike, canoe, and camp in their spare time. They are both involved in the Bicentennial activities in Tampa.

LANE PARKER Moss, Houston, Texas, and her husband, John, have just bought a big, old house that provides them with many projects.

ROBIN WATSON Livesay, Santa Monica, Calif., works at Occidental Petroleum Corporation as one of the secretaries for the chairman of the board, Dr. Armand Hammer. Her husband, Jim (W&L '69) is a third year surgical resident at U.C.L.A.

JUDY BARNETT Dutterer, Washington, D. C., is still working for Congressman Glenn English, but enjoys the farm she and her husband have in West Virginia where they spend weekends and holidays.

1970

VIRGINIA MOSBY Hayles, Germantown, Wisc., is quality assurance manager for CDM-Limnetics, an environmental consulting firm in Milwaukee. She recently took part in a seminar at MBC featuring professional women who have chosen and succeeded in careers in the environmental field.

STEPHANIE SHEARER Wynne, Charleston, W. Va., received her master's of education in French in June, 1976, from U.N.C. (Greensboro).

ALICE DIBRELL Freeman, Marion, Va., stays busy weaving, gardening, playing tennis, and remodeling her home. She enjoys politics—Isaac was State Senate candidate in '75. Alice is the Republican Women's Club president for the county.

BETH LARNER, Blacksburg, Va., is an assistant in the Virginia Tech Office of a biologist working with an uncommon technique to isolate cancer cells and determine their "enzyme profiles." Beth earned a master's degree at the University of Vermont in embryology after graduating from MBC.

JANE IRZYK Mize is thoroughly enjoying her stay in Hawaii where Dave is finishing his year as company commander. She is continuing with her golf, tennis and exercise class.

1971

DORIS FAUBER Strickler, Lexington, Va., is working to complete her master's degree in art this fall at Madison College. Her husband is working for the V.M.I. Keydet Club.

Fly to Switzerland June 3-11, 1977

Take a charter flight to the most picturesque scenery in Europe.
Dulles departure and return;
a fabulous combination
tour of Zurich and Thun
for only $469.
For further information contact the Alumnae Office.

HOLLY MERKEL Daane, Canton, Ohio, is working for a commercial bank and her husband is an attorney.

BROOKE HUME, Nashville, Tenn., worked as a clerk for a law firm in Atlanta this past summer, but is planning to begin her second year of law school at Vanderbilt in the fall.

JANE BARTLETT Trotman, Casar, N.C., and her husband, Bob, have bought a farm and remodeled a farmhouse. Bob is making custom furniture and Jane stays quite busy raising their son, Nathan.

1972—5th Reunion—April 22-23

Reunion correspondent, KATHY YOUNG Wetsel, Winchester, Va., says that she and Jay are enjoying themselves in the "apple capital" of Virginia. "It was just great hearing from everyone listed below and I look forward to seeing all of you at our reunion in April."

"CONNI" ATKINS, Palm Beach, Fla., is founder and president of Conni Atkins and Company, "a small visual merchandising company designing windows and retail interiors." She is also working as an editorial assistant for a new regional review of the arts and helping her church organize a public relations program.

HARRIET STONEBURNER Bell, Earlysville, Va., is a part-time cytotechnician and is a member of the Charlottesville University League. She is married to Frazier, who is a real estate broker. They have a 3-year-old son, Frazier, Jr., and a daughter, Elizabeth, born April 19, 1976.

MARGARET ANNE RITCHIE Bentley, Elizabethton, Tenn., has been working as a psychological evaluator. Her husband, Stan, is a manager of a furniture store.

EVE BREMERMAN, San Francisco, Calif., says "I'm enjoying San Francisco and have gone from banking to the investment field. I'm often nostalgic for the old Parisian days, but I'm enchanted with this city which has made re-entry into American life quite painless."

JANET ROTH Bruno, Burke, Va., is currently on a leave of absence from the Burroughs Corporation where she was an office supervisor. Her husband teaches and coaches at Lake Braddock Secondary School. He is also a building director for the recreation department. They have one son, Anthony Michael, born January 17, 1976.

SUSIE PRUETT Caldroney, Mt. Pleasant, S.C., is working for Bankers Trust of South Carolina as a teller. Ralph is doing his first year of internship in internal medicine at Medical University of South Carolina.

CLATIE HARRIS Campbell, Utica, N.Y., writes "I am putting my Spanish education background to work by teaching nutrition to poor Spanish-speaking children. I work for the Cooperative Extension and am attending classes at night. Jonathan will be two at Christmas."

CAROL DITTO Cary, Chester, Va., is a systems analyst for a bank in Richmond. Dale is the personnel administrator at a manufacturing plant in Petersburg.

BECKY HOLCOMB Dickinson, Fredericksburg, Va.: "I am teaching seventh and eighth grade math in Stafford County. I was married on October 25, 1975 to George Forrest Dickinson, Jr. He works for Mary Washington College in admissions and financial aid."

MARY SUSAN DOBYNS, Winston-Salem, N.C., is in marketing with IBM.

RUTH IRVIN Evans, Cambridge, Mass.: "I work for the Kitchen Store in Harvard Square." Her husband, Chris, is studying to be a professional chef. They have two daughters, Sarah and Rachael.

KITTY SPRATLEY Favre, Hampton, Va., has worked 3½ years as a "tenant relations advisor" in public housing in Newport News. She is also working on a Junior League child abuse committee. Her husband is now associated with Lackey-Saunders Company, Inc.

GINI MASTERS Fleishman, Lexington, Ky., is "currently enjoying being at home as wife and mother. I did work as a medical technologist in the general hospital here until the birth of my daughter, Leonie, August 27, 1975. Currently on the Board of Residents and Interns Wives Club. Husband, Henry, is in his second year of surgical residency at the University of Kentucky Medical Center."

SARAH MURPHY Foster, Charleston, W. Va., is a teacher-librarian at George Washington High School. Her husband is an attorney. Sarah received her M.A. in education in 1975.

ELIZABETH CLEVELAND Jamison, Fort Valley, Ga., is working part-time as a medical bookkeeper. Elizabeth is currently working on her MBA.

MARIANNE DEALE Jones, Winston-Salem, N.C., is a personnel officer for Wachovia Bank and Trust Company. In addition, she serves as an MBC Admissions Aide and is working with the New Dimensions campaign.

MOLLY SUTLIFF Lavigna, Cleveland, Ohio: "I am working as a chairside assistant for my husband who has opened his dental practice here in Cleveland. I am a member of the Women's Auxiliary to the Cleveland Dental Society."

BARBARA BUTLER Leonard, Germany, is registrar for the Boston University graduate program in Aschabfeuburg. She is a substitute English teacher, a Red Cross swimming instructor and the Officer's Wives' Club welfare chairman. Husband, Henry, is company commander of an engineer combat battalion in Germany.

ROWENA LLOYD, St. Louis, Mo.: "Now a writer for APC skills. This fall in Sao Paulo, Brazil—last summer in Toronto."

PEGGY DALLEN Lumpkin, Canal Zone, is a resource teacher of special education. Husband, Barry, is in charge of all Army Club Systems in the Canal Zone. They have two children, Tony and Natasha.

DEE JONES McElroy, Atlanta, Ga., is presently a housewife after finishing four years of teaching last May. She is active in Ealeston Hospital for Children and the Humane Society. Husband, Jim, finished his Ph.D. in Renaissance Literature at Emory University in August. He has begun work as an account executive.

JILL KIELY McKenzie, Columbus, Ohio, is an area order service manager for American Hospital Supply. She is active in Junior League, Women's Auxiliary of the Columbus Bar Association, and Central Ohio Management Association. Lake is an attorney.

JANN LAWSON MALONE, Richmond, Va., is still at the Richmond Times-Dispatch and is now covering politics—the General Assembly of Va., the State Capitol news, and political candidates. She is taking piano lessons in her spare time.

KAREN ANNE PETERSON Mann, Morgantown, W. Va., is a student again at WVU in the graduate program of social work and Larry is pursuing his master's in Psychiatric Social Work.

SALLY VIA Matthews, Austin, Texas, is a national bank examiner working for the Treasury Department. She is a member of the Junior League and is doing volunteer work—when not traveling on her job. Husband, Larkin, will complete his MBA in December.

LINDA BOWDEN May, Watertown, Mass.: "I work for Bay Bank Harvard Trust—I am the liaison between Harvard Trust and the Data Center. I stay busy with sewing, needlepoint, quilting and art courses at Harvard Extension, but my job requires most of my time. Bob is an architect."

CAROLYN APPERSON Milbrandt, Pensacola, Fla.: "I am presently a lady of leisure and enjoying every minute of it. I am becoming active in my church. I am doing some singing in the city and in a community singing group. Warren works at a local medical laboratory."

KAREN STONEBURNER Miller, Harrisonburg, Va., is a non-graded primary teacher for the blind. This year she is teaching four totally blind 11 and 12 year old boys. Michael manages the Harrisonburg Credit Bureau.

CARTER MOFFETT, Staunton, Va., is a legislative aide to state delegate "Shad" Solomon. She keeps an office in Staunton, but spends lots of time in Richmond.

MARGIE THRIFT Oates, Charlottesville, Va., is taking an H&R Block course and will do income tax work this winter. Bob is a captain stationed at the U. S. Army Foreign Science and Technology Center.

JILL BUTLER Pendleton, Charlottesville, Va., recently married John Pendleton. John is a former Marine Vietnam war veteran and is presently finishing U. Va. Medical School. Jill is still teaching and reading books on how to cook and keep house.

NINA GRAHAM REID, Columbia, S.C., has been an associate with the law firm, Nexsen, Pruett, Jacobs, and Pollard since 1975 after finishing U.S.C. Law School. She still enjoys bird watching and horseback riding.

BARBIE PHIPPS Silverman, Richmond, Va., is a graduate student in social work at VCU. Husband, Gill, is a pediatrician/child psychiatrist and is also an associate professor at MCV. They have one child, Mary Elizabeth.

KAREN SEARLE Snyder, Alexandria, Va., is a teacher in Fairfax County Intermediate School for the moderately retarded. She was married in April to Jim, a graduate of U. Va. and a City Planner for Arlington County. They have an older home in Alexandria and are busy fixing it up.

MARY ATKINSON Stone, Richmond, Va., is teaching in the city and is becoming very interested in local politics. She and Billy find time to enjoy sailing and skiing.

MARILYN MUHLEMAN Strickland, Portsmouth, Va., is a third grade teacher at Court Street Academy. She is working on her master's in Elementary Education at Old Dominion Univ. Husband Mike works for Virginia Federal Savings and Loan as a branch manager.

PAMELLA MOORE Strickland, Richmond, Va.: "My husband, Ed, is assistant manager for 'That Steak Place.' We just had six miniature Schnauzer puppies and hope to keep one for showing. I am becoming involved in the Virginia Terrier Club."

CAROLE DILLEN Shriver, Waynesboro, Va., is a junior-senior high school teacher of the educable mentally retarded. Her husband, David, is an Educational Evaluator and is currently working toward his doctorate in Educational Administration. Carole is quite active in curriculum and programs for children with learning disabilities and she and her husband co-directed a summer camp for these children.

SUSAN OSBOURNE Symmonds, Brooklyn, N.Y., is a "case worker/assistant team leader working in foster care with Catholic Guardian Society." She has a master's degree in social work. Her husband, David, is an accounting supervisor for the Bank of New York.

MARY TOMPKINS, Richmond, Va.: "I am presently working at the Bank of Virginia in the investment department selling certificates of deposit. I am on the placement committee of the Junior League of Richmond."

BECKY BOST Tucker, Little Rock, Ark., is working in medical social work at Arkansas Children's Hospital. She is also president of the Arkansas Child Protection Society, member of the University of Arkansas Child Protection Committee, and is chairman of the Community Leadership Symposium for the Little Rock Junior League. Rett is the head of the Agri-Business Department at Commercial National Bank.

MELANIE GAMBLE Walker, Lexington, Va., is an assistant librarian in the cataloging department at W&L's undergraduate library. Husband, Rob, completed M.A.T. at the University of South Carolina and is presently teaching English at Lexington High School. They spent three weeks in England and Scotland this summer.

JANE INGE Wallace, Lexington, Va., is teaching children with learning disabilities. Husband, Billy, is a third year law student at W&L. They spent the summer living and working in Denver and came back by San Francisco and stayed with MARY HOTCHKISS Leavell and her husband.

OLIVIA WATSON, Little Rock, Ark., is an art instructor/slide curator in the Department of Art at the University of Arkansas in Little Rock. She is active in the Arkansas Arts Center, Junior League, Arkansas Repertoire Theater, College Art Association, Southeastern College Art Conference, and the Mid-America College Art Association.

CAROLINE WATTS, Madison, Va., is associated with her father in the law firm of Watts & Watts. She graduated from W&L Law School in 1975 and then clerked for a year for a 4th circuit judge on the U. S. Court of Appeals.

RUTH RACHAL Wilhelm, Richmond, Va., teaches kindergarten at Collegiate and is very active in the church. Husband Dorn has his own insurance company and Greg, eight, is in the second grade.

BLANCHE SNEAD WYSOR, Highland Springs, Va.: "I am Outreach Librarian at the County of Henrico Public Library. I've been an Adult Services Librarian here for two years. I have become very active in professional organizations at the national, regional, state, and local levels."

JANE RAYSON Young, Pawling, N.Y., is teaching drama at Trinity-Pawling School and her husband, Geoff, teaches English, coaches football and works in admissions. The Youngs share a dormitory with 28 junior and senior boys.

1973

KATHRYN SPENCER Quigley, Munich, Germany, has been busy directing "Once Upon A Mattress" for the Munich Entertainment Center and doing a paper on the Cyprus crisis for U.S.C. She and her husband, Bill planned a trip to the states in December.

JO CAMPBELL Brand moved to Atlanta, Ga., in the fall of 1975 and was working for a large computer firm, but wrote that she hoped to start paralegal school in the fall of 1976.

ANDREA DANNETTELL, Somerville, N.J., writes that she is the first female in the sales management staff of Personal Products Company, a division of Johnson and Johnson.

ANNE HATFIELD, Winston-Salem, N.C., spent a year in Vail, Colo., following graduation, playing and working as a waitress. She has received an MBA from The Babcock School of Management at Wake Forest University.

KATHERINE RODES Wilkerson, Christiansburg, Va., writes that she and Jess have just bought a house and BARBARA PHILLIPS Truta and her husband live nearby. Jess is still with Hubbell Lighting Division and Katherine is teaching sixth grade math at Blacksburg Middle School and loves it.

1974

TERRE SALMON Sullivant is now living in Jackson, Miss. Her husband, Henry, is in medical school and Terre is doing public information work for the Mississippi Department of Mental Health.

ANN DAY, Tiffin, Ohio, has been appointed an intern resident counselor of France Hall and assistant chaplain at Heidelberg College. She has completed two years at Vanderbilt Divinity School and is a candidate for a master of divinity degree.

1975

CATHY SHANER, Richmond, Va., has entered her first year as a graduate student in medical social work at V.C. U. During the year after leaving MBC Cathy held many part-time jobs, including working as a social worker at the Woodrow Wilson Rehabilitation Center and serving as a coordinator for the Rockbridge Area Mental Health Associations S.O.D.A. program.

1976—1st Reunion—April 22—23

BRUCE PRIDDY, Ashland, Va., has graduated from the MCV School of Nursing and plans to go to graduate school in the fall of 1977.

Births

To SUZANNE ACKERMAN Bishop '64 and James, a son, Eric Anderson, May 20, 1976.

To ADELE JEFFORDS Pope '65 and Thomas, a son, Will, April 20, 1976.

To BARBARA EDWARDS Sanford '66 and Frederick, a daughter, Ann Haskell, May 4, 1976.

To SIMS BROCKENBROUGH Foulks '66 and Gary, a daughter, Beverley, February 2, 1976.

To VIRGINIA TAYLOR Otts '67 and "Mac", a son, Octavius McCrary, IV, March 25, 1976.

To ANN HUMPHREY Sanders '67 and Wellford, a daughter, Ann Lorraine, October 6, 1976.

To ELIZABETH TROXELL Jones '67 and Ralph, a son, Ralph, III, February 18, 1975.

To MARBURY RAINER Ray '68 and Billy, a son, William Carl, III, October 21, 1975.

To JINX RAWLINGS McGraw '69 and Jim, a son, James Robert, Jr., August 29, 1975.

To ALICE DIBRELL Freeman '70 and Isaac, a daughter, Susan St. Clair, October 7, 1975.

To MARY MARGARET WOOD Senechal '70 and Richard, a daughter, Ann Elizabeth, October 16, 1976.

To REBECCA CASE Yelverton '71 and Peter, a daughter, Kathryn Case, June 16, 1976.

To JANET ROTH Bruno '72 and Henry, a son, Anthony Michael, January 17, 1976.

To LINDA THORN Abele '73 and James, a son, James Augustus, III, July 3, 1976.

To CAROLYN AMOS Cook '73 and Barry, a daughter, Martha Avery, July 23, 1976.

To MERRY KAY SHERNOCK '75 and Stanley, a daughter, Mirra Karin-Ada, July 31, 1976.

Marriages

BILLIE JEAN SMITH Towlen '52 to Eldon Clifford Frye, May 14, 1976.
ELIZABETH TABB SLIPEK '68 to Johannes J. Bisschop, October 9, 1976.
MARGARET EDITH RICHIE '69 to Phillippe Emile Honore Villette, July 31, 1976.
ELIZABETH COBLENTZ '70 to Thomas A. Marshall, October 9, 1976.
JENNIFER JARRETT '71 to Charles E. Moroney, III, September 11, 1976.
VIRGINIA KNIGHT SPROUL '74 to Lemuel Tyler Downing, III, July 10, 1976.
BARBARA BOOKER WICK '74 to Thomas Harry Knopp, June 19, 1976.
PATTY LOU STUART '75 to Gerald Blane Knick, October, 1976.
CARROLL BLAIR '76 to Joseph Lee Keiger, September 18, 1976.
PATRICIA ANN TUGGLE '76 to Thomas Wayne Collins, July 17, 1976.
SUZANNE GRIFFIN '76 to Daniel James Sutphen, June 26, 1976.

In Memoriam

EULA GRACE COINER '03, October 23, 1976.
HELEN BRYAN '11, September 9, 1976.
ELIZABETH THOMAS McClure '14, June 20, 1976.
PERSIS KEATES Westcott '17, August 2, 1976.
LOUISE BASS LUPTON '18, June 29, 1976.
HARRIETTE SPROUL Allnutt '22, November 28, 1976.
MARGARET MAFFITT Atwood '25, August 31, 1976.
MARTHA ELIZABETH KUHN '32, May 27, 1976.
MARY ANNA KEELEY Campbell '42, October 1, 1976.
MARY GROVE Boylan, August 12, 1976.
ROBIN CARR Wingfield '49, October 29, 1976.
JANE McKINNON Stephens '53, November 6, 1976.
CAROLINE WILSON Franklin '66, December 15, 1976.

Inauguration, Alumnae Weekend

- The inauguration of President Virginia L. Lester will be the high point of the weekend in ceremonies on Page Terrace. All alumnae are invited to attend the inauguration and reception following.
- Alumnae will have their own "Nostalgia Night" party, honoring eleven reunion classes. What was Mary Baldwin like in these reunion years—1927, 1932, 1937, 1942, 1947, 1952, 1957, 1962, 1967, 1972, 1976? Come and find out!
- The annual Fine Arts Festival will be held during the weekend, presenting several performances of drama, dance, and music. There will be an auction of crafts, the proceeds of which will go toward the development of the SMA property. Alumnae are invited to send handcrafted items for sale to contribute to this effort. All items should be received in the Alumnae Office no later than April 13.
- Alumnae are responsible for making their own overnight reservations. A group of rooms is "on hold" at the Holiday Inn, Downtown until April 10. In contacting the Inn, specify that you are a Mary Baldwin alumna.

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

Friday, April 22:

1:00 to 6:00 p.m. Registration. Alumnae House.

2:30 p.m. Alumnae Association Board of Directors meeting in Alumnae House.

4:30 p.m. Dance Performance by the Mary Baldwin Dance Group. Francis Auditorium.

Choir Concert

6:00 p.m. Alumnae "Nostalgia Night" party and dinner. Hunt Hall. Recognition of reunion classes.

8:30 p.m. Three new one-act plays written, directed and performed by alumnae. Francis Auditorium.
Reunion by TERRY KOOGLER Southerington '72
Sticky Revelations by BETTE ALLAN Collins '61
The Empty Room by BARBARA ALLAN Hite '58
Visit the display of crafts to be auctioned on Saturday. Open all day, place to be announced.

Saturday, April 23:

9:00 a.m. Registration and coffee. Hunt Hall.

10:00 a.m. Alumnae Convocation. Hunt Hall. Election of officers, new members of the Alumnae Board.

11:00 a.m. Tour of the newly purchased SMA campus.

1:00 p.m. Luncheon for alumnae and distinguished guests. Hunt Hall. Presentation of the Emily Smith Medallion, the distinguished alumna award.

2:30 p.m. Academic procession and inauguration of President Virginia L. Lester as the seventh president of Mary Baldwin College. Page Terrace, Library.

4:00 p.m. Inaugural reception for alumnae, distinguished guests, students, faculty, and staff. Spencer Hall.

5:45 p.m. Buffet supper for alumnae and students. Hunt Hall.

6:15 p.m. Auction of crafts. Place to be announced.

8:30 p.m. A dramatic reading by alumnae and students of a new translation of Aeschylus' Suppliants. Page Terrace, Library.

Sunday, April 24

Other Fine Arts events will be scheduled throughout the day.

Fine Arts Festival April 22, 23, 24

Reservation Form

Clip and mail before April 13:

To: Alumnae Office, Mary Baldwin College, Staunton, Virginia 24401

I want to make the following reservations for inaugural and alumnae events April 22-24:

(Indicate the number of reservations needed for each event; write "2" if accompanied by husband, etc.)

_____ "Nostalgia Night" party and dinner, Friday, April 22. $5.00

_____ Breakfast, Saturday, April 23. $1.50

_____ Luncheon, Saturday, April 23. $4.00

_____ Buffet Supper, Saturday, April 23. $3.50

_____ Breakfast, Sunday, April 24. $1.50

_____ My check for $_____ is enclosed.

_____ I will pay on arrival.

Name: _____

Student Name: _____ Class: _____

Address: _____

City: _____ State: _____ Zip Code: _____

_____ My overnight reservations are at the Holiday Inn, Downtown.

_____ My accommodations are at _____

Comments, questions, requests: _____

Mary Baldwin College
Staunton, Virginia 24401

7251
S79
M425
1971-76

349261